What is this type of insurance?

With Cancer insurance, a company can insure its employees for cancer. The overall insurance consists of two separate insurances that are taken out simultaneously:

- Cancer insurance, cancer care expenses
- Cancer insurance, lump-sum compensation for a malignant tumour.

What is insured?

Cancer insurance, cancer care expenses

- ✓ Treatment of cancer in Finland at Docrates Cancer Center or at a public health care facility

In the insurance for cancer care expenses, cancer refers to diagnosis codes C00–C97 (malignant neoplasms) and D00–D09 (in situ neoplasms) of the ICD-10 international classification of diseases.

The sum insured in the insurance for care expenses is EUR 10,000 per cancer. Maximum compensation paid for care expenses for the same cancer is the said sum insured. Compensation requires that the insurance cover is valid at the time of the incurring of the expenses.

Cancer Insurance, lump-sum compensation for a malignant tumour

- ✓ The insurance covers a lump-sum compensation if the insured is diagnosed with a malignant tumour fulfilling the criteria specified below during the validity of the insurance cover (after the qualifying period).

The diagnoses entitling to a lump-sum compensation comprise the following diagnosis codes of the ICD-10 international classification of diseases:

- C00–C97 (malignant neoplasms), excluding diagnosis code C44 (other malignant neoplasms of skin)
- D05 (carcinoma in situ of breast).

No more than one lump-sum compensation per person is payable under the insurance.

There is a 90-day qualifying period in the lump-sum insurance. The qualifying period begins from the date that the insurance cover of the insured person begins and means that compensation will not be paid during the validity period of the insurance for a malignant tumour that is detected during the qualifying period.
